Speech of John Quincy Adams.

An item published Tuesday, informed us that this gentleman had made a speech at a conservative meeting in Boston. As the New York World remarks, ancestry does not go for much in this country, but when a man speaks who has the blood of two Presidents in his veins, and whose father ranks among the most eminent of our statesmen, his speech will at least be listened to with marked attention. It is understood that the opinion expressed on national affairs, by the younger Mr. Adams, are the same as those held by his father, Charles Francis Adams, the present Minister to Great Britain.

The following are extracts from the speech. On the admission of the Southern States, he says:

"Look at Congress to-day, insisting, as it does, that its rights are in danger if these ten States are readmitted to Congress; it claims and exercises a right to hold out of the Union almost as many States as ever strove to go out, and it imposes the same condition of further Constitutional guarantees as the price of a renewed, much as the secessionists did of a continued Union. I confess, as a matter of Constitutional law and common sense, apart from the intent of individuals, I see very little to choose between the man who takes a State out of the Union because he cannot get Constitutional guarantees to suit him, and one who keeps a State out of the Union until he can get Constitutional guarantees to suit him. In both cases we must look for the evil principle precisely where the political theorist would have indicated beforehand, in the inherent weakness of written constitutions, when the fear of ambition of a dwindling majority tempt them to overstep the limits of the organic law to avert their own humiliation, and the advent to power of a rival party which, of course, appears to the still dominant faction an insufferable calamity. Now, my friends, this is the real danger which Congress would avert from us. It is absurd to suppose that the bold and able men who have wielded the whole power of the North for years are much alarmed at the return of a beaten and broken remnant whose power has passed away, whose prestige is gone, and whose burden is about as much as they can well bear, to mingle in the deliberations of Congress. No; the organs of Congress make no secret that their real apprehension is not the South, but the North—no longer the men whom they persist in treating as alien enemies, but their loyal fellow-citizens of the Democratic party. It is to secure their dear people from the unutterable woes of Democratic rule, and to perpetuate the inestimable blessings of their own administration, that they are willing to postpone indefinitely a true restoration of the Union."

Of the proposed amendment to the Constitution, he remarks:
"Passing over the strange anomaly of recognizing these States, which we have ascertained by our committees to be too wicked to be permitted to vote upon the simplest matter of statute law—nay, not even on questions of finance—where surely no human being, be he ever so rebellious, could well give more foolish or dishonest votes than many of our radical friends are still in the Union, and safely reliable, so far as to pass upon the gravest changes in our organic law, and that too under an open bribe; allowing all this for the sake of the argument, what shall we gain by our move? Congress says we shall secure ourselves against another war, and take new guarantees for peace. But I confess I cannot see how. This idea seems to me only a part of the general theory so prevalent with us that a statute has some sovereign power to change the minds of men; the same theory which teaches that intemperance can be abolished by law. Why, gentlemen, was there any lack of Constitutional law against secession and rebellion, and did it prevent the late war? No piling of amendment upon amendment will prevent revolution and anarchy so long as the policy of the majority compels the minority to hate the organic law, and teaches, by example, the whole people to disregard or evade it. [Cheers.] Will evil disposed men stand more in awe of your newly tinkered Constitution after you have yourselves impaired its sanctity by trampling it under your feet, as they at least will believe at the South, to serve a temporary purpose, than they did when it was enshrined as a thing apart in every thinking mind? Why, gentlemen, this seems to me as absurd as if the miller whose fish boards had been carried away by a flood and his dam shaken to its foundation, should tear away the beams and planks from the base of his dam to heap upon its top to secure it from the next freshet. The foundation of the Constitution and the Union is in the love of the people—nothing else. [Tremendous cheers.] If you loosen this foundation you prepare its sure overthrow."

He concluded by saying:
"Gentlemen, there is but one safe path for our feet, but one unerring guide for our steps. If we stray from that path for any temptation, no matter what its offered delight may be—if we abandon our guide, we shall wander long in blind paths, and may probably perish miserably at the last. That path is the teachings of the men who formed the Union, and that guide the Constitution of the fathers of the Republic."

A NEW AND GRAND ESPOCH IN MEDICINE. Dr. Maggell is the founder of a new medical system! The quantarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all-healing Salve. These two great specialties of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggell's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggell's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggell's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite and render the spirits light and buoyant. There is no griping and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcers and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggell's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggell's Pills, Dyspeptic and Diarrhoeal Pills cure where all others fail. While for burns, scalds, chilblains, cuts, and all abrasions of the skin Maggell's Salve is invaluable. Sold by J. Maggell, 11 Pine street, New York, and all druggists, at 25 cents per box. July 21-6mo

Arrest the Murderer!!
$500 REWARD!

A MOST DIABOLICAL MURDER was committed near the town of Chester, S. C., on the night of the 22d July, 1866, upon the body of my brother, ALEXANDER D. WALKER. Two of the murderers (negroes) have been arrested. The third, a white man, known as BILL MORRIS, alias CHAS. DEREM, alias WYLLIE MORRIS, is still at large, and is described as follows: Tall, square-made man; grey eyes, of a peculiar look; short, thick nose; low forehead; round, lean face; somewhat hump-shouldered; black hair, with a few grey hairs; about thirty-seven years old; weighs about 140 pounds; speaks slowly, and, when speaking, twists his mouth to the right side; heavy, dark beard; has been wounded, as well as can be recollected, in the right arm, near the elbow; with small and bony arms; wore dark coat and dark linen pants. The above murderer is a notorious scoundrel, and has recently, in connection with a band of negroes, been engaged in various other bloody outrages. The above reward will be paid for his arrest, or for any information that will lead to his apprehension. JOSHUA H. WALKER, Chester, S. C. Aug 22

SHIVER HOUSE.

HAVING DISPOSED of my HOUSE for a term of years to Mrs. D. C. SPECK, who is well known in the city, and to the public at large, as a popular Hotel-keeper, and a worthy lady, I take great pleasure in recommending her to my friends and the public generally, and feel no hesitation in saying, one visit to her house will induce another. Call and give her a trial.
In taking leave of my friends and patrons, for Mrs. Shiver, I return grateful thanks, and recommend Mrs. Speck as her successor. W. SHIVER, Sept 2

SUGAR-CURED SHOULDERS!

ALMOST equal to Hams.
Aug 20 JOHN C. SEEGERS & CO.

PURIFY THE BLOOD.
USE THE
QUEEN'S DELIGHT
AND
SARSAPARILLA.
For the cure of all those Diseases having their origin in a vitiated condition of the human system, and those arising from any departure from the laws of health, imprudence in living, over-laxing nature, from too great indulgence of every kind—eating, drinking, working—whereby nature suffers exhaustion.
THIS chemical extract will be found an invaluable restorative cordial for all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. Cutaneous eruptions, such as Boils, Pimples, Carbuncles, Pastules, blotches, Roughness of the Skin, Scaly Appearance of the Cuticle, Tetters, Ringworms and Itching Humors of the Skin, this purifier will remove, and impart health and a life-glow to the complexion. For Erysipelas, Scrofula or King's Evil, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones, Stiffness in the Joints, Old Ulcers, Want of Blood in the Parts, Syphilitic Sores and Ulcers, and Impaired Constitutions arising from these diseases, and from the too free use of mercury. For General Debility, springing from Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Weakness and Pains in the Stomach, Liver Complaint, or want of action in that organ producing pains in the side or back, affecting the kidneys and bladder.
Females, at the period of change, will find it the best restorative to health and strength, from all those weaknesses and depressions of mind and body which follow at this time of life.
Persons traveling South or living in warm climates, and all unaccustomed, will find the Queen's Delight a great protection from all those diseases which originate in a change of climate, diet and life.
Its properties as a remedy were first introduced to the notice of the profession by Dr. Thos. Young Simons, of South Carolina, as early as 1828, as a valuable alternative remedy in syphilitic affections, and others requiring use of mercury. Dr. Simons' statements have been endorsed and extended by Dr. A. Lopez, of Mobile, and D. H. R. Frost, of Charleston. From the reports in its favor, there seems no reason to doubt the efficacy of this medicine in Secondary Syphilis, Scrofula, Cutaneous Diseases, Chronic Hepatic Affections and other complaints benefited by alterative medicines. For sale by FISHER & HEINITSH, June 29 Pharmacists, Columbia, S. C.
